

Beauty from All Angles

Every once in awhile, there comes a chance to break out of the box and design something that's, well, different. Glenn Douglas of L.A. Custom Pools & Spas Inc. embraced such a challenge with this design for his Redlands, Calif., clients.

"This was not a normal Southern California pool," Douglas said. "It is a Northeast style, a pool that defies normal geometrical tendencies."

The homeowners wanted to create an area that would aesthetically match the home and would provide the children with a place to play. The fact that the pool was to be located in a wedge-shaped lot added to the challenge. The design team also had to contend with an upslope on the right side, which provided narrow access to the area. This called for a careful and methodical design.

The resulting project is the homeowners' dream pool. The finished design is topped off with an oatmeal flagstone deck, and mossy settings separate the flagstone. The dynamic color scheme creates a nice ambiance for the pool and the home and a luxurious oasis for the homeowners.
